

How do we make education accessible to children who live in vulnerability?

KEY ELEMENTS

- All children are in the right of having education, according to the UN.
- But 9 out of 10 children are lacking education in school due to the pandemic.
- Another 40 million children are refugees and therefore miss out on school.
- Researchers that have studied the impact of closed schools during II World War found out that the children without education during these years had lower income for up 40 years.

GOALS

We want to make education accessible to the children who are suffering the lack of education due to their situation.

CHALLENGE

How to allow personal development and education, affecting their future and social environment? The challenge is to make education accessible for the world's children in extremely vulnerable situations.

END USER

Children who are not able to take part in regular education based on their living situation.

ORGANIZATIONAL BACKGROUND

Almost 70 years of experience supporting children without parental care, and those at risk of losing it, have given us a deep understanding of how to care for children who need someone and how to help prevent the breakdown of parental care. We do this through innovative and effective partnerships with donors, communities, governments and other organizations. Our Strategy 2030 helps us respond to the changing needs in the communities where we work, putting the most disadvantaged children at the centre of all our actions. Our strategy directly relates and contributes to the Sustainable Development Goals in key areas such as poverty, inequality, education, health, social and child protection, and decent work. When children can no longer live with their families, we work with communities and state partners to provide children with loving and supportive alternative care. We work with children, families, communities and states to prevent family breakdown and ensure that children's rights are met.
